AGENTS NOT RESPONSIBLE

Fertilizer Companies Must Bear Loss of Bad Debts for Material Sold.

NEW NORTH CAROLINA LINE

Route to Washington, N. C., Now Quick and Direct-Plan for Jamestown Exposition.

NORFOLK, VA., June 17 .- A jury verdict is that agents are not liable for the debts of farmers for fertilizers. That was the result of the suit of the American Agricultual Chemical Coimpany, of Baltimore, to make Haley and Taylor, agents on the Eastern Shore, pay for the fertilizer material for which the farmers have not paid. There is a motion for a new trial. The jurymen were mostly farmers and the plaintiff is a corporation. The case was heard before Federal Judgo Waddill to-day.

NEW DIRECT LINE.

Upon the completion of a short road, which is now under construction, between Mackey's Ferry and Plymouth, N. C., and the converting of the Washington and Plymouth Railroad from a narrow gauge to a standard gauge track, a direct route will be established between Norfolk and Washington, N. C. Besides the saving of several hours in time, the improvement will enable passengers to make the trip between these points without a change of cars.

Ferry barges with the standard gauge tracks will be used for transferring the trains from Edenton, to which point the main line of the Norfolk and Southern now runs, to Mackey's Ferry.

The route at present is a round-about one, and considering the distance between the two places, is tiresome.

At present the Norfolk and Southern trains connect at Edenton with a river steamer, which transfers the freight and passengers across the Albemarle Sound to Mackey's Ferry, and thence up a narrow river to Plymouth, where another transfer is made to the narrow gauge Washington and Plymouth road.

NO MORE RIVER TRIPS.

The plans, which are now being pushed to completion as rapidly as possible, will do away with the river trip from Mackey's Ferry, from which point, the run to Washington will be made over rail. This will put the Norfolk and Southern in a position to compete with the Atlantic Coast Line for the business from the sound points to Norfolk and the North.

At present the Coast Line has a more direct route and a culcker schedule and

JAMESTOWN GROUND PLAN.

The Board of Directors of the Jamestown Exposition Company will hardly adopt a general pian of buildings and grounds at its meeting Tuesday. It is now learned that there is strong sentiment against too hasty action, as the events of the next year or more may demand radical changes that would be costly. It is stated authoritatively that the directors are considering the advisability of employing a firm of capable architects who will do all of the outline work, surveying and engineering, that will be required. The plans in detail will be developed thore carefully and with better result as the work progresses. The ground plan mayy be determined upon at an early date. There will be about ten large main buildings and the style of architecture will be colonial, it is understood.

IMPROVED TRAIN SERVICE

Southern Railway's Heavy Business Necessitates Increase.

The Southern Railway announces that it will put on again, beginning Saturday, June 18th, trains 29 and 36, between Charlotte and Washington, which were recently taken off. The train when restored will resume the old schedule, which will be announced officially in the published time tables. These trains, one north-bound, the other south-bound, are fast through trains. They were taken off in May in the effort, to curtail expense, but the business of the system is so heavy that it has been found necessary to restore them.

THE STORY OF

Copper Amalgamated

A PERSONAL WORD BY THOMAS W. LAWSON AND A STATEMENT BY THE PUBLISHERS OF

Everybody's Solagazine

The Personal Word by Mr. Lawson

Personally I know that one hundred millions of dollars were lost thirty men committed suicide, and twenty previously reputable citizens went to the penitentiary, directly because of Amalgamated.

It was largely because of my efforts that the foundation of Amalgamated was successfully laid. It was created because of my work. It was because of what I stood for, because I had the public's confidence, and because my promises had been kept that the plain people invested two hundred million dollars of their savings, and it was because of trickery and broken promises that the public lost the enormous sums they did. enormous sums they did.

My motives for writing the Story of Amalgamated are manifold: I have unwittingly been made the instrument by which thousands upon thousands of investors in America and Europe have been plundered. I wish them to know my position as to the past, that they may acquit me of intentional wrong-doing; as to the present, that they may know that I am doing all in my power to right the wrongs that have been committed; and as to the future, that they may see how I propose to compel restitution.

THOMAS W. LAWSON.

The Statement by the Publishers of Everybody's Magazine

In the articles by Mr. Lawson, beginning in the July number, under the caption of "Frenzied Finance, The Story of Amalgamated," we have a narrative from Mr. Lawson's own lips, how, in the last few years, he has seen millions of dollars won without right, and thousands of men ruined. It is a story of financial tragedy of to-day.

In the great financial happenings of recent years story tellers have given their version; political economists their theories; reformers their pictures; and historians their tablets. For the first time in the history of High Finance we have the High Priest tall it as it hapthe history of High Finance we have the High Priest tell it as it happened, and it is for Everyboay's Magazine to publish the "cold-blooded facts," for Mr. Lawson has pledged himself to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

Interest in the Tec-Dee Outing Contests Is Already Be-STANDING GIVEN TO-MORROW

Interest is already at white heat in the singly nor in pairs, but in bunches, bundles and volumes. Already, though the race is but one week old, interest is far in excess of that at a more advanced stage of last year's contest. This is but natural, when all those who enjayed the magnificent trips last summer are eloquent agitators of the fairness of the proposition and the faithful fulfillment of every pledge made in announcing the contest. As a further evidence of the appreciation of those who have enjoyed these superb privileges, it may be stated that almost every cosele participating in the race last summer are already "in on the ground floor" this year, and are hustling as though they were on the home stretch.

To-morrow's issue of The Times-Dispatch will be of peculiar interest to all competitors and their friends, for it will contain the list of couples competing, the number of votes to the credit of each, and a description of the resorts to which the winner may go, and of the railway journey on route. It is not too late for new competitors to get in the race, for it is young yet, but the earlier a cguple enters the better it will be, for the publication of the names will be an announcement to all their friends that they are in, and votes will be collected and saved for them.
